The opinions expressed in this column are the personal views of the writer and do not necessarily reflect those of the management. In fact, many times they do not.

CONSPICUOUS BY HIS ABSENCE

"What! could ye not watch with me one hour?"

Three hundred people gathered around the banquet board at Crockett on Monday evening at a testimonial dinner to Senator W. R. Sharkey, who announced several weeks ago that he would not again be a candidate for the upper house of the legislature.

But Governor Frank F. Merriam was NOT among them.

Senator Sharkey represented this district for 22 years. His ideas and those of this paper failed to harmonize on public questions to a large extent, and it cannot be said we were ever backward in pointing out what we considered his mistakes and shortcomings.

PERFORMED WELL

But his relations with Governor Merriam were entirely different. The fact that he was the personal spokesman of the chief executive, floor leader in the Senate, would indicate close personal friendship, unlimited faith and confidence in his ability and judgment relative to the administration's program. And it is said in all candor and truth that Senator Sharkey performed in a way that left no room for criticism, as far as taking program and seeing that party members in the body did the same. He was the appointed representative who pulled the strings when it was time for the "boys to dance."

NO SINECURE

The position of floor leader is one that is not easy to acceptably and efficiently fill. It requires many outstanding attributes not the least of them being a reservoir of tact, which sometimes is almost drained dry to accomplish the desired object.

Anthony Wilson of 584 A street was cited to appear in police court for failure to have an operator's license after his car had collided with a machine driven by Mrs. Ann Grady, 1701 Chanslor avenue at Twelfth street and Bissell avenue.

Both cars were damaged in the accident, but no one was injured.

Berkeley Asks
Port Rehearing

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17—UP—The State Railroad Commission today took under advisement the petition of Berkeley city officials for the commission to hold a hearing on its order permitting major steam ship companies to abandon Berkeley as a port of call.

A suggested amended tariff schedule was filed by the steamship lines today at the conclusion of the hearings on the petition.

Berkeley officials contend the elimination of their port would prove harmful to their manufacturers and merchants, due to the increased costs of trans-bay shipments if cargoes were unloaded elsewhere.

Workers Return

STOCKTON, June 17—UP—Workers returned to their jobs at the Port of Stockton Grain Terminal today after winning virtually complete victory in their two-week strike for higher pay.

The workers, receiving 60 cents an hour, were said to have been granted 70 cents in an agreement for a period of one year. The demand was 75 cents.

S. F. ATTACK-MURDER CONFESSED

Highway Drive Is Planned By Chamber

POLICE LED TO SCENE BY GIRL SLAYER

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—UP—Alfred Walter, Jr., 28, former Boston law firm employee, confessed tonight he strangled Miss Blanche Cousins, 24, Idaho Falls, Idaho, to death with a silk stocking and left her body on a bed in her apartment, police said.

Homicide squad officers found the body buried beneath a tangle of pillows and blankets, and placed Walter under arrest pending filing of murder charges.

ATTACKED GIRL

Walter admitted, police said, that he first strangled the girl into unconsciousness with his hands when she resisted his advances following a dinner in her apartment, that he attacked her before she regained consciousness, and that he killed her by knotting one of her stockings around her throat and pulling it tight.

Inspector Al Carraza told the story of Walter's confession.

CONFESSION QUOTED

"He walked into our department at 9 o'clock and said: 'I killed a woman last night. I strangled her with a stocking and left her body lying there. I'll show her to you.'"

Attack Upon Woman Laid To Legion

DETROIT, June 17.—UP—The Black Legion, its activities halted by widespread investigation of vigilante terrorism, was believed tonight to have struck back at a woman who dared reveal its outlawed secrets.

In a severe beating administered by an unknown assailant to Mrs. William Guthrie, 33, authorities saw possible Black Legion retaliation for her disclosures of the order's night-riding activities.

Less than two weeks ago, the slender woman told police how the Black Legion members came to her home for their meetings and how much of the Black Legion's literature was printed on her husband's presses.

A few minutes after Recorder Judge John P. Seallen had ordered 15 alleged members of the Black Legion held for trial on charges of plotting the death of two prominent persons, an ambulance rushed Mrs. Guthrie, unconscious, to the receiving hospital.

Later, hysterical and sobbing she told how she had taken her dog for a walk after luncheon and had been attacked upon her return.

His subject will be "Investigation or Inquisition. Which?" and will deal with the recent treatment of E. J. Tova, as well as the Bell Congressional committee.

Harvest Of Apricots Is Very Orderly

BRENTWOOD, June 17.—The migratory labor problem during the apricot season here is being handled by Sheriff John A. Miller, who is personally on the job, in such an efficient manner that there has not been the semblance of a disturbance so far.

There are 15,000 tons of apricots to be handled, and as the fruit ripens very rapidly it must be handled without interruption or the crop will be a total loss.

The ordinary population of the town is about 800, but its present population is over 5,000 due to the influx of labor employed in the orchards, packing sheds and cutting sheds.

Sheriff Miller has devised a systematic plan that is being carried out with great precision. An employment bureau has been established, and every stranger who

Senator Fletcher Of Florida Dies

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Senator Duncan U. Fletcher of Florida died suddenly of heart disease today at his home.

He was 77 years old and had served in the Senate since March 4, 1903.

The widow and two daughters, Mrs. Nell Smith-Gordon of Washington and Mrs. T. J. Kemp of St. Louis survive.

Fletcher was chairman of the important banking and currency committee and a member of the committee on commerce, military affairs and printing.

DEMAND FOR COIN LAID TO OFFICER

OAKLAND, June 17.—Fred E. Stewart, Oakland member of the State Board of Equalization, appointed inexperienced men as expert tax appraisers, told them to set their figures from county officials and demanded a $250 cut of the $500 fee paid to each appointee.

These charges were made today in testimony before the Alameda County Grand Jury which turned aside from its probe of rum graft to investigate alleged irregularities in the tax field.

ACCUSED BY WITNESSES

In other testimony Stewart was accused of appointing two Alameda county employees as expert appraisers, telling them also to get their figures from the Assessor's books and suggesting they use dummy names to draw their pay.

The sensational turn in the Grand Jury's inquiry came when A. K. Frey, an auto mechanic; Fred Murdock, county tax collector; and Frank Ford, deputy county assessor, took the stand.

HAD NO EXPERIENCE

The four men testified they had had no experience as appraisers of real estate and that although the appraisal was to check appraisals made by county officials, Stewart told them to take their figures from the county's assessment books.

Crossman testified that while he was visiting Stewart's home in May, 1930, the telephone rang. Mrs. Stewart answered it and turned to him, asking if he wanted a job.

GIVEN PROPERTY LIST

Told it would mean $550, Crossman said he did, and was told to meet Stewart at Fourteenth and Alameda streets, Oakland, the following day, the witness testified.

Stewart handed him a list of 125 parcels of property whose owners had protested county valuations for tax purposes and Crossman "looked at the buildings," he testified.

CLAIM APPROVED

He went to Stewart's home where the State liquor and tax chief's daughter, Lucille, typed out his claim. Crossman signed it and Stewart approved it, according to

CUT-OFF TO BE URGED BY DELEGATION

A new and intensive campaign to win the Willow-Pass cut-off is to be waged by Richmond, according to decision last night by the streets and highways committee of the local Chamber of Commerce.

The cut-off involves about eight miles of road construction from Willow Pass to Franklin station near Martinez on the Ukiah highway, costing approximately $300,000. For several years Richmond has advocated this development with the view of bringing traffic into the port of Richmond, which otherwise will flow naturally into Oakland through the new low-level tunnel and the improved Tunnel Highway from Walnut Creek.

TO SEND DELEGATION

At last night's meeting Chairman W. W. Scott proposed that Richmond send a large and aggressive delegation of civic leaders and public officials to discuss the matter with the State Highway Commission.

Second Suit In Highway Crash

MARTINEZ, June 17.—Asserting that he suffered injury to his spine in an automobile collision near Rodeo on March 1, 1936, Robert J. Dent today filed suit for $25,000 damages in Superior court here against Sam Weidman and McDonald and Harrington, Ltd.

Mrs. Mayne Graham filed a $25,000 damages suit recently against the same defendants and the case was settled yesterday for $7,500.

Dent charges that he was riding as passenger in a machine driven by W. E. Hotchkiss, 25, of 2334 West street, Berkeley, when a collision occurred with a truck driven by Weidman.

He claims he suffered a compression fracture of the second cervical vertebra and process, and injury to his eleven ribs.

The action was filed through Attorneys T. M. Carlson and R. V. Collins of Richmond and James Nichols of Oakland.

Club Is Given Bridge Data By St Sure

Interesting facts were divulged to the Kiwanis club yesterday by W. P. St Sure, vice president of the company, regarding the operation of a bus line by the Key System over the bay bridge.

There has been a great amount of misinformation regarding the plans of the company, St Sure declared. The intention is to run a direct service from Sixth and Macdonald and on San Pablo avenue to Ashby, and thence across the bridge, the running time from here to the San Francisco terminal being at hour intervals until increase in traffic justifies better service.

The reason that the outlined route will be used is because no certificate of public convenience will be issued for a highway that has not been accepted by the State, but that on completion of the East Shore highway and its acceptance

THE WIZARD OF WIMBLEDON

by ALAN MAVER

FRED PERRY, THE ONLY ENGLISHMAN TO WIN THE WIMBLEDON TITLE SINCE 1909, WILL TRY TO MAKE IT THREE IN A ROW.

THE TENNIS WORLD IS ANXIOUS TO KNOW WHETHER PERRY IS FULLY RECOVERED FROM THE FALL HE SUSTAINED IN LOSING TO ALLISON LAST YEAR.

FRED RECENTLY LOST THE FRENCH HARD COURT TITLE TO HIS LEADING RIVAL, BARON VON CRAMM, IN A FIVE SET MATCH.

JOE LOUIS IS FAVORITE TO BEAT GERMAN

NEW YORK, June 17.—The House that Ruth helped build with his celebrated clouts for the circuit and which Joe Louis is helping support with his equally renowned clouts to the club will echo to the roar of the fight crowd again tomorrow night.

Scene of many a knockout in the ball field as well as in the ring, the Yankee Stadium furnishes the background for the latest exploits of the 22 year old Negro boy from Alabama whose rise to flistic fame has been equally as spectacular, as rapid and even more lucrative, for all concerned, than the memorable flight of Babe Ruth to baseball fame.

There may be more background than spectators in some sections of the big Bronx ballyard but the tinside rows, at $40 a head, will reflect the glitter of the golden days as Joe Louis keeps his latest flistic rendezvous, with Germany's Max Schmeling as the party of the second part.

SIX ROUNDS FOR MAX

It's billed as a 15-round match, the winner to fight James J. Braddock this September for the heavyweight championship of the world. In the same arena, but five dollars will get you ten if you think Schmeling has a chance to last more than six rounds against the deadliest, most calculating puncher the ring has known since Jack Dempsey's prime.

Louis expects to make short work of the third ex-heavyweight champion he has fought there within a year, and list Schmeling as the twenty-eighth victim in a winning streak unbroken since the Detroit Negro turned professional in 1934.

Joe hasn't injured his round but, having expressed the hope he "might break his New York record" it is reasonable to suspect he will try to apply the crusher in less than the 11 minutes and 50 seconds it required for him to knock out Max Baer last September.

MAX STILL CALM

This failed to disturb the outward evidence of calm in Schmeling's camp, however. Max's followers, in fact, think his chances will be better in an early slugfest than if he is subjected to more carefully directed sharpshooting.

The German no doubt is in fine condition for a 30 year old boxer who passed the peak of his career four or five years ago but he still looks like a 30 year old fighter well past that peak.

Gable Takes His Troubles To Court

HOLLYWOOD, June 17.—UP—Clark Gable, film hero, took his marital troubles to court today, filing suit for recognition of property settlement which he made with his wife last September.

He said in his complaint that his wife, Mrs. Rhea Gable "refuses to be bound by the agreement, although I have paid her large sums of money."

Ready To Go

HELEN MOODY TO ENTER IN STATE TENNIS

BERKELEY, June 17.—UP—Helen Wills Moore, world's foremost woman tennis player, signed prior her first major tournament at 1936 today by entering the mixed doubles competition in the California State Championships which begin here Saturday.

Her partner will be Edward "Bud" Chandler, veteran Coast player, with whom she paired in the Pacific Coast tournament here last year.

The Moody-Chandler combination didn't do so well last year, as they were eliminated in the third round. They also played together in the Seabright tournament in 1926 and went to the finals that time.

Chandler is president of the Northern California Tennis Federation and Mrs. Moody is a director. The federation promotes the tournament, in which several hundred players will participate.

The State Championships may be Mrs. Moody's only competitive endeavor before she goes East to compete in the Nationals.

CATTLE THREE SENTENCED

UKIAH, June 17.—Harold Bettinger, who pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing a calf from the Frank Leonard ranch, was taken to San Jose today to start serving a term of from one to ten years. Probation was denied him on account of his bad record, officers said. Bettinger, who formerly resided at San Jose, and Carmel, said he killed the calf to provide food for his family.

Gamblers Fined In San Jose Court

SAN JOSE, June 17.—UP—Joseph James and E. L. Wright, arrested June 1 for operating gambling devices at a night club near Los Gatos, were fined $200 each by Justice Arch H. E. H. Los Gatos, today after pleading guilty.

James and Wright were arrested during a raid conducted by Sheriff George Lyle and a squad of deputies.

LOUIS MOODY FIGHT

LOUIS MOODY, June 17.—Mrs. Helen Wills Moore, divorced wife of Benjamin Glazier, film producer, filed today in a local effort to force Glazier to set up a $250,000 trust fund for her which she declared he agreed to do at the time of their divorce in December, 1930.

Mrs. Glazier contended her ex-husband earned $3250 a week, ample to maintain the fund. The petition stated that Mrs. Glazier, at the time of the divorce, received alimony of $1250 a month.

LEMPKE MAY BE CANDIDATE ON THIRD TICKET

WASHINGTON, June 17.—UP.—Bald headed Representative William Lempke, Republican, North Dakota, promised his support today for a third party movement working for his farm mortgage refinancing plan. But he parried questions as to whether he would head the ticket.

"Do you deny that you will be the third party candidate for President?" he was asked.

"Why should I deny it?" he said. "I haven't heard a thing about it."

Lempke's return to the capital was one development in a day featured by third party talk as a result of Father Charles E. Coughlin's announcement in New York that a candidate would be put in the field against both President Roosevelt and Governor Alfred M. Landon. Other political developments included:

1.—Smashing defeat in the House of a motion to accept the conference report on the Smith-Black anti-lobbying bill, after speakers had described it as aimed against Coughlin's national union for social justice, Dr. Francis E. Townsend's pension organization, and the American Federation of Labor.

2.—Announcement by Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin that the Progressive Party, which he heads, will hold a conference after the Democratic convention to "consider what action should be taken in the campaign."

3.—Prediction by Representative Thomas Amie, Progressive, Wisconsin, that Coughlin's third party would only swing five western states into the Republican column in November. "If that is all we could do, we should defer action," he added. Amie was leader in a third party movement last winter.

4.—Predictions by leaders of both major parties that a third party movement would go down to certain defeat this year.

Love Feast At Dems' Meeting Seen By Farley

PHILADELPHIA, June 17.—UP.—Postmaster General James A. Farley passed through town tonight predicting that the Democratic national convention next week would be a five day love feast and that the new deal would sweep the rebuilt Republican party into the scrap heap in November.

The chief strategist of the Democrats found much to please him here, and he was so happy about it all that he went on to New York for the Joe Louis-Max Schmeling fight tomorrow night.

From Atlanta came news that Governor Eugene Talmadge, "the wild man from Sugar Creek," was going to sulk in Dixie while Democrats endorsed the New Deal and sent President Roosevelt and Vice President John N. Garner into the battle against the G. O. P.'s Landon-Knox ticket.

RICHMOND ANNEX EXPERIENCING BOOM

The residential district in Richmond Annex near Panhandle seems to be booming these days.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Estreito are building a fine new 8 room stucco home at 5980 Huntington which they expect to occupy about the last of July. Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Claver are building an addition consisting of dining room, kitchen, breakfast room and laundry onto the home they started last year at 5981 Panama. This when finished, which they plan to do within a few weeks will be a very attractive home.

Mr. and Mrs. George Stock have built an unusually attractive stucco home, which they just finished, at 5991 Sacramento. It has all the built-in features, dear to the heart of a home-maker including an anti-proof cooler which is just the finest gadget imaginable in the California climate as it is as friendly a climate to ants as it is to homo sapiens. Mrs. Stock intends to rest easy while out to parties, knowing the ants are not invading her cupboard.

At 5966 Fresno street the A. K. Welands are busy constructing a fine five-room place with full basement and airy sleeping rooms above. A very nice home they will have when it is finished which will be shortly if their plans work out as expected.

Clay homes are being planned for this neighborhood, according to reports, and it is believed that by the time the bay bridge is finished this territory will be solidly built up.

Don't Take Pills For Constipation

Ordinary pills taken to relieve constipation merely force a movement of the bowels without making the liver discharge its excess bile. That's why the trouble returns in a day or two and you have to swallow more pills. What every constipated person needs is a good liver tonic. It's easy to thoroughly cleanse the digestive system of all four secretions and lay liver to proper working order. When this is done you will no longer have frequent headaches, dizziness, bloated bowels, sour stomach, constipation, or other ailments. Planter is made from the purest of natural medicinal plants. Nature's own remedy for constipation, it's the only way to get rid of it. Try it tonight. Large size $1.49, small size 50c.

CANADA'S NEW DEAL IS HIT BY HIGH COURT

OTTAWA, Ont., June 17.—UP.—Canada's "new deal" won and lost today in a momentous decision by the Dominion Supreme Court, the highest tribunal in Canada.

Of eight recent laws enacted by the Bennett government, two were found constitutional and a third was held to be partly valid. Two acts were ruled unconstitutional. On the other three laws the court was evenly divided, three to three—resulting in no decision.

Amendments to the criminal code to prohibit unfair business practices, such as discriminatory discounts, were held valid, four to two. The farmers' credit act was upheld in virtually all sections by unanimous decision. The Dominion trade and industry commission act, organizing a commission to supervise business and industry on fair trade practices, was upheld in part, but some sections were voided.

The employment and social insurance acts and the Dominion marketing act were declared unconstitutional. The last provided insurance for unemployed, based on contributions of employees, industry and government, and a series of employment bureaus all over Canada.

The minimum wage act, the 48 hour week act and the law for one day of rest in seven, all designed to improve labor conditions, were struck in one reference. On these three acts the court split evenly in its verdicts.

In each case, it was intimated, there will be an appeal to the Privy Council in London. The Canadian government will appeal in those cases where its jurisdiction was not upheld, and the provinces will take similar action where they consider their jurisdiction was invaded by decisions upholding the central government.

Louis Gosden To Die Friday For Mole Death

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, June 17.—UP.—Louis Gosden, 32, Oakland plumber, will pay with his life on the gallows here Friday for the poisoning murder of his third wife, Mrs. Laura Silva Gosden.

Warden Court Smith said today only an executive reprieve can save him.

Gosden was suspected of having killed at least one of his other two wives, was charged with having given his third wife poison and watching her in her death agonies, refusing to grant her last request for a drink of water.

In addition to the murder he was charged with complicity in performing an illegal operation on his young housekeeper. His execution was delayed by an insanity plea which was denied.

Four Killed In Explosion At Oil Refinery

BAKERSFIELD, June 17.—UP.—An explosion, its origin shrouded in mystery, took the lives of four persons and caused considerable property damage here today.

The victims were Leon Coffin, 29, and Doyle Taylor, employees of the Pension Oil Company in whose oil-cracking plant the explosion occurred; Mrs. Francis Sims, wife of the plant superintendent, and Mrs. Walter Smith, 41, wife of a Biggs, California, farmer.

Mrs. Gladys Peopple, Oroville, who was with the other two women on a visit to the plant, was burned critically. Walter Smith and J. H. Sims were burned less seriously.

The explosion occurred in a building formerly used as a refinery. An accumulation of gas might have been the cause. The blast had terrific force, shattering light-bulbs and four oil derricks.

DENIAL IS MADE TO CHARGES BY JOSEPH KELLY

SACRAMENTO, June 17.—UP.—Joseph Kelly, superintendent of the State school for adult blind in Oakland, today filed with the personnel division a denial of charges made against him by the California Federation of Women's Clubs who demanded his removal from office.

Kelly refuted accusations against his administration and demanded a hearing. He requested that the women's clubs' complaint be dismissed as "false and untrue" and requested the complainants be reprimanded for "malicious and untruthful" attacks.

The personnel board was expected to arrange a hearing on the charges within a few weeks prior to action on possible ouster proceedings.

Urging California clubwomen "to load their guns and make their influence felt," Mrs. W. D. James of Hanford, State president of the federation, charged Kelly with "negligence and indifference in his supervision of the blind school."

A special committee was appointed to make formal complaint against Kelly.

REDUCING STOMACH ACIDITY

In yesterday's article, I discussed some of the disorders beginning with the term "hyperacidity" and explained that this term means "too much." In today's article, I am going to tell you about gastric hyperacidity which refers to the throwing out of too much hydrochloric acid by the stomach.

The patient who is manufacturing this strong acid in too large a quantity will experience various symptoms which make him all too glad to get rid of the stomach. He is troubled by a burning sensation in the stomach, or by a gnawing feeling, or by heartburn, or by a feeling of being hungry, or by the belching of a sour-smelling fluid. He usually finds out for himself that the taking of food or the drinking of a liquid will provide him with temporary relief.

In patients having a tendency to gastric hyperacidity, any emotional strain or mental tension will make the symptoms markedly worse. It is explained why the adoption of a quiet, soothing regimen will usually appear to bring about considerable improvement.

Hyperacidity of the stomach is one of the very few disorders in which the appetite is good—in fact, it is usually heightened in such a way as to make the patient believe he is hungry even a short time after eating, although, of course, this false appetite is not due to a real hunger.

The symptoms are most likely to appear when the stomach is empty at which time the excess of acid is irritating the stomach walls. At the patient makes a meal, the resultant gastric feeling will cause considerable discomfort and it is sometimes difficult to make the patient understand that his distress is due to stomach irritation rather than to any real need for food, arising from true hunger.

The important thing for the patient with stomach acidity to realize is that the condition is produced as the result of definite causes and that the remedy lies in the removal of the cause. In every case, it will be found that the cause lies in eating more food at one time than the stomach can take care of readily, or in using bad mixtures of food. Digestion is chiefly a chemical process, being carried on by the chemical action of the digestive juices. One of the most important of the digestive secretions of the stomach is hydrochloric acid, and the stomach is encouraged to secrete this acid in large quantities by meals which are highly seasoned, by the use of too much of that kind of food, such as meat, which stimulates the secretion of hydrochloric acid, and by other dietetic errors.

When you eat too much food or use too many food mixtures at any one meal, the only way that the stomach can meet the situation is by secreting more of the gastric juices than would normally be required. Thus the bad habit is formed of secreting more gastric juice than would be necessary if you ate more judiciously. As this digestive juice, which is strongly acid, is thrown out into the stomach, it will cause an irritation, which is relieved by taking more food which serves to soak up the acid present.

A simple remedy which will bring temporary relief is the use of bicarbonate of soda in warm water, as the soda neutralizes the acid. However, this method can not be relied upon to effect a permanent cure. In helping the patient overcome the tendency to gastric hyperacidity, I find that the best plan is to advise the use of a plain water fast for a few days which will keep the stomach full and this is often all that is necessary to achieve the desirable result of keeping the acid in the stomach normal in quantity. After this is accomplished the patient is then completely free from the symptoms of gastric hyperacidity.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Yellow Teeth)
Question: Mr. Ferris N. writes: "I had white, clean-looking teeth until about a year ago, when they began turning yellow. I wash them after each meal, but within a few hours a yellow substance collects on them which I can remove with a nail file. I would appreciate your advice about this."

Answer: Yellowish teeth are the natural condition with some people. However, it is possible some other condition is responsible in your own case and I would advise you to consult a good dentist. Do not use a nail file to scrape your teeth because by doing so you are apt to injure them and make them subject to decay.

(Handball for Office Workers)
Question: Norde asks: "Do you recommend the game of handball for the office worker? If so, how often should it be played, and what other exercise do you suggest?"

Answer: Playing handball is a very good exercise for the office worker. Three 45 minute periods per week would be valuable. The different machines used in the gymnasium are also to be recommended. However, a certain amount of calisthenic exercises should be taken each day in connection with walking, swimming, etc.

PERSONAL—The inimitable G. Kaufman saga keeps accreting like an amoeba. The newest bit derives from Mr. Kaufman's recent conversation with Edna Ferber on "Stage Door."

Mr. Kaufman is a nervous fellow, even to restless roving when indoors. When he works, he paces the room, jumps up and down, and is in the habit of picking up any old books, newspaper, magazine, letter or telegram that may be lying around, and reading it before returning to his typewriter.

This is very relaxing for Mr. Kaufman's nerves, but it's tough on the personal correspondence of his friends. Miss Ferber naturally fell victim to the roving propensities while they worked together. "Something obviously had to be done about it. Something was."

The cots are carefully graded and the finest are packed and shipped in refrigerator cars to all points of the country. A portion of the crop is sent to the canneries, and the culls go to the drying yards.

It is expected that the peak of the crop will be reached by the end of this week.

Wife Is Given Divorce From Totzky's Kin

MARTINEZ, June 17—Sitting during her testimony that her husband is a nephew of Leon Totzky, exiled Soviet leader, Mrs. Elsie Caroline Totzky of Richmond today was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce from Romano Totzky by Superior Judge A. F. Bray on grounds of desertion.

Mrs. Totzky told the court that her husband is a count, and that they married at Gallup, New Mexico, November 28, 1932. She said that he deserted her November 15, 1934, and she does not know his present whereabouts.

The plaintiff also said her husband was trained in medicine and always wanted to practice medicine and did so in America without a license. She said that for this reason he had been in trouble several times and had moved from one place to another. The longest they ever resided in one place was three months.

Mrs. Totzky, who is employed by a Richmond oil company, was allowed to resume her maiden name of Elsie Caroline Aichinger. Judge Bray also granted her custody of a son, Romano 3, and fixed alimony at $1 per month to hold jurisdiction.

PAROLE DENIED

MARTINEZ, June 17—An application for parole filed with the state board of prison directors by George Allen, 60, of Richmond, has been denied. Allen was convicted from this county on August 14, 1923 on a charge of lewd and lascivious conduct involving a three-year-old Richmond girl. The state board fixed his term at 50 years.

S. F. KILLER ELEPHANT IS SAVED BY WRIT

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17—UP—With a Hollywood flourish, San Francisco's today saved the life of Wally, six ton killer elephant sentenced to be destroyed for the crime of crushing out the life of his keeper, 42-year-old Edward Brown.

The stake was set for the execution, the six ton beast was chained firmly to a post, and police marksmen were adjusting the sights of big "moose guns" when Alexander Mooslin, attorney, dashed up to the elephant corral of Fleischacker zoo in a taxicab.

Running up to a crowd of men standing around the police sharpshooters, the attorney asked which one was Edward Heller, keeper of the zoo.

When Heller identified himself, Mooslin handed him a writ, issued by Superior Judge Frank C. Deasy, staying the execution until Friday when Wally's fate finally will be decided. The hearing will be held at the zoo, with Wally attending the proceedings.

"I guess that's that," Heller said as he waved the policeman aside.

Hay-Fever Can Be Cured by Injections of Pollen-Extracts, Says Dr. Chrisman

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

SAMUEL M. FEINBERG, M.D., assistant professor of medicine at Northwestern University Medical School, was delegated to write about the modern preventive treatment of pollen disease. Dr. Feinberg contributed the chapter on this subject when the book, "Your Hay-Fever," was published recently under the auspices of the American Medical Association.

While self treatment or even diagnosis is deprecated, it is advised strongly that the pollen-sensitive person should know everything possible about himself.

This is essential because the cooperation of the patient is necessary to success in the treatment of this erratic affliction. The sufferer should be acquainted with what is being attempted and how it is going to be done.

Since the pollen is wind blown and we cannot stop the wind, and since it is not possible to destroy the pollen-producing grasses and trees, the only recourse is to reduce the irritation by any practical means. The use of filters can keep some pollen away from the patient. If he can have an entirely air-conditioned room, so much the better, but this plan requires him to remain in the room.

You Can't Avoid Dust

Any sort of vacation loses its tang if it becomes necessary to follow a routine as to time and place. How well I remember as a youngster thinking how fine it would be to go to the delightful Georgian Bay region as our neighbors did every year. Then suddenly the mother said one day, "It's no fun when you have to go!"

Anyone can try to avoid the particularly offensive plants like ragweed or make an effort to remain indoors when the wind comes from a certain direction. All other nose or throat affections must be given special attention. Operations in these areas should be avoided in the hay-fever season.

Certain pastimes like swimming must be denied to these sensitive folk because of the reaction of their mucous membranes to the water. This is especially true where the water is too cool or dirty. It seems useless to say "Avoid dusts of any kind," but it is possible to avoid dusts of the body.

Something can be done, too, about mental excitement or annoyances of any kind. Keep away from them even if it means a relinquishment of the pleasures of the day. Drugs are only a partial solution of the trouble. They will give temporary and partial relief and are a valuable aid, but can be prescribed only by one who knows the individual.

The allergic tests to determine to what irritants the patient is sensitive call for much patience and later for a strict avoidance of the article or food to which the patient yields the use of electrical current on the membranes of the nose may render it insensitive or even destroy it but the chances are that when the membrane is healed it will be again sensitive and the results are doubtful.

Selected Extracts a Cure

The specific treatment lies with modern preventive medicine in the way of immunizing. Commercial pollen extracts are now made and sold under the approval of the American Council on the American Medical Association. Life insurance companies will furnish instructive literature. The particular protein selected for use is determined by skin tests and by all the facts concerning the incidence of the disease in the case involved.

The injection treatments may be spread over the year or concentrated in a period previous to the pollinosis attack. Some prefer taking it only after the attack begins. Correct pollen treatment is not harmful and does not injure any organ. Children tolerate it and other disease need not interfere with it.

Modes and Manners

QUESTION: "About how far from the table should one be seated?"—S. W.

ANSWER: A comfortable distance is about eight inches, measuring from the chest to the table's edge.

QUESTION: "Is it necessary to buy a gift for a new-born baby?"—I'm sending flowers to the mother.

ANSWER: If you like you may get a baby blanket, a tiny sweater or a bonnet. Nothing will please the mother more. But it is not necessary unless you want to. Most mothers prefer some token for baby to throw for themselves.

"Busy?" "Yes," Says Miss Morgan

By TALBOT LAKE

ANY young swain of Claudia Morgan, the actress, who unwittingly asks, "Are you busy tonight?" is liable to receive a most scornful stare as the mildest retort to his question. Miss Morgan, who is the daughter of Ralph Morgan and niece of Frank Morgan, both of Hollywood fame, is playing two roles in two shows on Broadway at the same time.

Miss Morgan, blonde, blue-eyed, slim and just turned 26, starts her nightly double at the Ritz Theater, 8th Street west of Broadway, in the first act of "Correspondent Unknown" as Sylvia Farren, an actress who wears black lounging pajamas.

The act over, she dashes to her dressing room, changes to a char-trouse ensemble, takes three blocks south to the Morocco Theater at West 5th Street, and comes on the stage for the second act of "Call It a Day." There she plays the part of Beatrice Ceyne, another vamping actress.

Her work over in "Call It a Day," she taxis back to the Ritz Theater, slips on a sky blue outfit and goes right on in the third act of "Correspondent Unknown."

All this hustle and bustle came about when Ika Chase dropped out of the "Correspondent Unknown" cast and Claudia Morgan stepped into her part.

"What worries me," says Miss Morgan, "is dashing about in full make-up. Particularly at maidens, I wonder what people think when they see me."

Victor Samrock, the business manager of the "Correspondent Unknown" company, always accompanies her on her wild taxi shuttles. He has the litters until he's perfectly sure she's where she should be, and on time. A blow-out or other mishap on the way would be fatal. A character might be saying, "Ah there, Cyenne (or Sylvia, depending on what show it is) so you've come at last!" and Miss Morgan might be mired somewhere en route.

Mr. Samrock leads a nerve-racking existence. He goes along because that makes him feel a little better about things. Also, he has to pay the cab fares.

How to Clean Walls

When you clean painted walls, have two pails, one containing soda made with soap powder, the other with clear water. Have two sponges, one in soda and one in clear water. Clean only a small portion of the wall at a time, washing with a circular stroke and each time lapping over a little. As soon as you have removed the dirt with soda, wash off with clear water, using sponge and wipe off. This is the method used by professional cleaners. The waters should be changed as soon as they become dirty.

Wear Hair Soft, Loose In Summer

By JACQUELINE HUNT

THE summer coiffures are both charming and practical. You can arrange your hair any way you like it, as long as the finished job is neat and easy to care for. Be sure to keep your neckline clear and free from uneven, straggly ends. This is the final test of a smart coiffure.

Harriet Hillard, the charming screen star, parts her hair in the middle and takes it back from the forehead in soft, loose waves. She exposes her ears and has soft ringlets at the sides and back to give softness and beauty to the coiffure. There are three tiers of the curls over her ears to make a soft kind of frame for her face. Two rows of curls nestled at the neckline.

Such a hair arrangement is smart enough for evening wear and casual enough for sports. Just tie a ribbon band around your head and the hair will stay in place even in a vigorous game of tennis. Set the waves and curls once a week and you can keep them soft and lovely by brushing them over your finger and pinning in place with tiny hairpins.

If your hair is long and naturally straight, do not bother about waves or permanent this summer. Simply part your hair where it is most flattering to your face and comb it back into a simple knot, or put it in braids that you can pin coronet fashion around your head. Smooth, shining hair, simply arranged, is refreshing after the intricate arrangements of waves and curls earlier in the season.

There were some lovely coiffures for brides shown recently, that you might like for evening. One called for fairly short hair, parted rather high on the side and combed back from the forehead. There was an intricate arrangement of curls all over the head, with lilies of the valley artistically posed among them. Elaborate as it sounds, this style was youthful and demure in effect.

Another style for brides that would be equally lovely with the new hat that perches on the top of your head, had the hair swirled smoothly across the back of the head, parted behind each ear and waved softly on top. There was a curl at each side and one across the forehead to frame the face softly. Rows of ringlets lay at the back of the neck. This arrangement was demure and flattering with a bride's veil.

If you try the above arrangement for evening you might wear a flower in your hair, a jeweled clip or pin. If you are a bride, however, do not wear ornaments of any kind in your hair. If you wear a coronet of flowers, they should be fastened across the veil.

Remember that the most artistic hair arrangements lose their charm if your hair is not healthy and bright. It is even more essential for your hair to be lustrous and silky if you wear it straight or in some simple style for summer; so see that your topknot gets at least one good brushing daily. You know how your skin collects grime during the day—your hair, too, picks up dust, soil and oil from your scalp—and it is only washed every week or ten days. A daily brushing, however, removes the accumulated grime and at the same time the oil which is picked up at the roots is distributed out on the hair. Your scalp is stimulated by the brushing and you will soon find that your hair gleams with new life and luster.

Beauty Tips

QUESTION: "I am fifteen and am inclined to be overweight. I would like to diet to reduce, but my mother is horrified at the idea—finally she said to write and ask your advice. Will you please send me your leaflets on the subject?"—Betty Lou.

Your mother is right. Young girls need more food than older women to sustain their bodies and supply the necessary elements for proper growth. A few pounds extra weight will prevent many of the ailments of youth. If you will avoid sweets and rich desserts, you will not have to worry much about your figure. You can control that by sports and dancing. If you feel hungry between meals, eat a piece of fruit or two of fresh fruit or have a glass of milk.

Almost every figure is improved by a girdle. It controls excess fat around the waistline and keeps a protruding tummy in place. Even if they wear a light girdle. Girdling hangs and fits with more style than when worn over an uncontrolled figure.

Bride's Cake Still Caps The Wedding Supper

By JUDITH WILSON

"SOMETHING old and something new" might apply to the wedding refreshments as well as the bride's costume. We are all sentimental about weddings, so any new ideas should follow the pattern of old traditions.

The bride's cake still dominates the decorations of the table but it can be a modernistically shaped affair with gleaming white frosting and ornamental flowers. It is usually surrounded with sprays of fern and white flowers.

At a wedding part of the menu served before the cake is placed before the bride. She picks up a silver knife and proceeds to cut the first piece of cake which she divides with the groom. The others cut pieces for themselves.

Here is a recipe for a bride's cake:

Bride's Cake
Cream 3/4 cup shortening until very soft, then gradually add 1 1/2 cups fine sugar, creaming until fluffy. Sift flour then measure 2 1/2 cups and resist three times with 2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Fold into the stiffly beaten whites of 6 eggs. Bake in one 10x2 inch pan and in an 8x8x2 inch pan in a moderate oven 40 minutes or until done. Cut a square of white cardboard 2 inches larger than the largest layer of cake and cover with a paper lace doily. Arrange the cake on this. Cover the first layer thickly with white butter frosting, arrange the second layer on top to give a tiered effect and finish frosting. Use a heavy butter frosting for ornamenting the cake. It is much more edible and easier to prepare than the usual ornamental frosting.

Butter Frosting
Cream 1/2 cup butter until very soft, and add 2 pounds confectioner's sugar alternating with 2/3 cup milk. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla and 1/2 teaspoon almond extract and beat until very fluffy. Spread between the layers and on top of the cake. For decorating the cake make the following: Cream 1/2 cup butter until soft and add 1/2 pound confectioner's sugar alternately with 1/2 cup milk and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Put into a pastry gun and use the fancy tips for flowers and swirls of frosting. Tiny figures of bride and groom, angels or wedding bells are sometimes used to decorate the very top of the cake. These ornaments are removed before the cake is cut. They are sometimes put away and used again on important anniversaries.

Wedding Punch
Pour 8 cups boiling water over 1/6 cup green tea, steep for 5 minutes and strain. Sweeten to taste with sugar. Add 2 cups pitted sweet cherries or a handful of fresh mint leaves. Chill for several hours, having the container set in cracked ice. Pour into a large punch bowl for serving.

WEDDING BREAKFAST

Molten Balls in Sherry
Breasts of Chicken on Ham
Buttered Peas in Potato Rings
Hot Biscuits
Lettuce Hearts-French Dressing
Ice Cream
Bride's Cake

RECEPTION

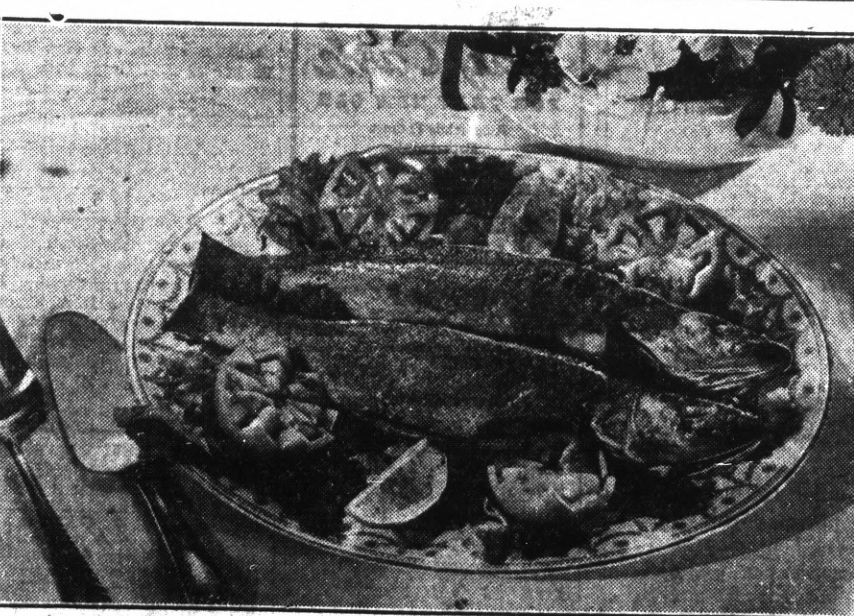

Chicken Salad
Cheese Pinwheels Asparagus Rolls
Wedding Cake
Sponge Drops
Fruit Punch
Salted Nuts
Coffee

add 1 quart of lemon ice and garnish with thin slices of oranges and lemons. This will make 25 servings.

Asparagus Rolls

These make a nice accompaniment for the traditional chicken salad that is served for the wedding reception. Cut the crusts from a loaf of sandwich bread, spread the end with creamed butter and slice very thin, buttering each slice before it is cut. Lay a freshly cooked and drained asparagus tip on each bread slice, sprinkle with paprika, and roll the bread carefully with the asparagus in the center. Lay the roll with the cut side down, cover tightly and chill. Immediately before serving, toast to a golden brown on all sides.

A FISH DINNER SERVED IN ATTRACTIVE STYLE

This platter of baked whitefish is delicious if prepared as follows: 1/2 pound whitefish; 1 small onion, chopped; 3 mushrooms, chopped; 1 tablespoon parsley, chopped; 1 cup domestic white wine; 1 tablespoon butter; salt and pepper. Place fish in baking dish, dot with butter, and add all ingredients. Bake in quick oven (400 degrees), baste frequently. Serve garnished with slices of tomatoes and onion. Parsley potato balls make an appropriate accompaniment.

Denim Wins Approval In Sport Wear

By IRENE VAIL

New York—The "bike to nature" movement is in full swing and the proper garb for biking has been highlighted for weeks.

Now comes the lady fisherman who chooses oil skins or sail cloth. Denim is among the cotton stars of the season. This is not its first year in fashion; but it is the first big season. Fashion is indicating an appreciation of its ruggedness by recommending it for the rougher sports wear.

Smart women who fish will be wearing this cotton in slacks and overalls or shorts with shirts either matching or in lighter weights such as meshes or in solid weaves such as plaid ginghams.

For other active sports and the beach, denim will be worn in mess jackets with matching trousers and plain broadcloth shirts.

The tabularian designs, white on blue usually, are again being used for beach togs. Blue seems to be the favorite beach entry, although yellow is a runner up.

Have you seen the newest team to go into action, the blouses-petticoats? It's an all-in-one garment designed to be completed by a separate skirt. Printed taffeta is the usual fabric choice, and there is a pleated ruffle as a happy ending.

Who can remember "way back to the time when there were no printed jacket costumes? It seems as though women have always burst into print, come spring, and there was never a time when ensembles were not every woman's idea of what to wear.

Vogue in Corsets

So strong is the emphasis placed by Paris at the mid-season showings upon the form fitted silhouette, that its influence will be very definitely felt in a demand for skilfully designed corsets. Even the slimmest figure, will require corseting to achieve the slender high-waisted, long diaphragm line projected as the most interesting feature of silhouette. Daytime as well as evening fashions are developed on this form, sometimes so closely moulded to the figure that no belt is worn—a severe test for the average figure and one which calls for a long "skin tight" foundation. Every expression of silhouette reiterates the emphasis on slim waistline and diaphragm.

Braid Edges

Braid edges reflect the importance of several fashion influences—manish, Spanish, Tyrolean. Take, for example, Creed suit uses the Tyrolean idea of outlining the pocket in contrasting fabric, but interprets it in manish effect, a fabric that suggests sharkskin weaved up on black worsted.

Other versions of the braid idea include silk braid of varying widths up to an inch wide where the boxier jacket is endorsed and in narrower widths where the jacket is more masculine. Braid may also be suggested by novelty stitchings along the edges of lapels and closings. Stitching itself is also important from ordinary all-over effects on revers to the wide stitched edge in contrasting color and fabric.

Short Cuts

When preparing vegetables, be sure they are fresh. If wilted, soak in cold water to freshen before cooking. Wash thoroughly and make sure to cut away decayed parts.

MODERN WOMEN

House Guests Who "Drop In" Unexpectedly Often Inconvenience the Hostess

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

FROM now until Labor Day the world is given over to extending and accepting hospitality of one kind or another. The week-end variety is most general. I suggest that you do not abuse the privileges attendant upon this fine old English custom. Unless one is on most intimate terms it is better to avoid dropping in unawares. Most women have small houses and have to count noses when arranging week-ends. Although a drop-in might be welcome and the house may be stretched to accommodate her, she would be more welcome if she had the fact to announce her coming.

You and Your Child

Thoughtlessness Due To Short Memory

By JANE HERBERT GOWARD

FATHER emerged from the bedroom scowling. Mother, who should have known better but did not, inquired, "How did you sleep?" "Sleep?"

Dad rubbed his forehead. "How can a yore sleep around here? Several times I started to doze off when—"

At this point Billy interrupted. "Dad, I'm sorry. I was taking a nap. I thought you were taking a nap," he said. Father could not believe his ears. He repeated, "You thought I was taking a nap. Is that why you go banging doors and shouting?" The boy covered. Father turned to address mother and he tiptoed out of the house.

"That's what I mean," father fumed. "The children have no respect, no feelings, no consideration for others." Again he touched his forehead. "When I went into my room, I had no headache. I was just feeling tired. Now I have a splitting headache. What were Ruth and Bob wrangling over?" Mother shrugged her shoulders. "I asked them to stop."

Dad snickered. "I noticed that your voice topped them. And did Walter have to whistle?" "He was shaving," replied mother. "And who was clattering those pots and pans and opening and shutting doors? That was worst of all. It was incessant!" Mother caught her breath sharply and did not answer. The last offender had been she. A feeling of annoyance to her own mother's sympathy for the children passed over her. She knew that any noise from the kitchen had not been deliberate, but unwitting. And so with the children.

When little children cannot remember to play quietly because daddy sleeps or mother's head aches, there is a reason. They have a short memory span. Constant reminders will be necessary and the mother should suggest quiet games. Such thoughtlessness in older children, however, reflects upon early training, and generally parental example will be found at fault.

Keep Rouge Apart

When carrying compact rouge in your pocketbook, be sure to keep a small piece of tissue or waxed paper between the rouge and the tiny puff used for applying it. This prevents the rouge powder from shaking loose and overloading your puff. When you are ready to use it then you can take up exactly the right amount of color on the puff.

Let Hostess Set Date

Obviously such a procedure cannot apply to anything but buffet or a fresco affair, but most summer entertaining is done on that plan.

No matter how sincerely an invitation is given "to drop in any time," or to "run up whenever you can," such bids are not to be taken too literally. The hostess who really craves your society for the week-end will set a specific date. I am aware of many exceptions; the kind of woman who keeps open house and is always ready to take all guests. A little judgment indicates that she is seldom the hostess whose house is run on a shoestring.

Believe it or not, there are women who make a point of never accepting the invitations to servile households. The reasons are rather obvious. One is naturally expected to make a gesture toward helping out her hostess. When one isn't willing to make the gesture, it is better to decline invitations from maidless households. As a matter of fact, the hostess who cares for things simple and easy for her guests has better confine her invitations to her family and intimates.

It is always a matter of amusement to me to see how often it is the male guest, instead of his wife, who cheerfully offers to help with the chores. A surprising number of men are helpful in other women's kitchens and seem ready to help with any kind of work.

Any woman who cares to confess, will admit that she has friends who are a joy to entertain and those who are not, and the distinction is not a matter of loving one more or the other less. It is purely a matter of adaptability. A friend who fits into the daily routine is the friend one enjoys entertaining.

Avoid Fixed Schedule

No one, neither guest nor hosts, can be comfortable or happy when there is a suggestion of strain or overwork on the part of the hosts. It is far better to serve the simplest things and so preserve calm rather than to attempt anything elaborate but difficult.

As far as I am able to ascertain, guests simply loathe the visiting places at which a schedule has been made for them to follow. In accepting an invitation for one's guests without conferring with them, it should be a tentative arrangement, subject to change after consulting the guests.

It is not kind to drag folks about who much prefer to be left at home with a book. Let them sit out of doors and absorb some of the peace and beauty of the country. That is the best treat one can offer many house guests.

I know there is another type of guest who expects to be entertained every moment. But then there is no need to worry about them, since they are the sort one seldom asks to return.

Soap in Embroidery

When drawing threads for hemstitching, you will find it much easier if you rub the surface of the material on the wrong side with a piece of white soap. The soap should be held under the material when you are making the round perforations for eyelet embroidery. Then allow the stiletto to pass through it. This method imparts a stiffness to the material, insuring an even embroidery job.

OLD PEOPLE find way to keep breath wholesome

Halitosis (bad breath) quickly yields to Listerine, safe antiseptic and deodorant

Either because of stomach disturbances, food fermentation, or the wearing of false teeth, old people frequently have halitosis (bad breath). No wonder others consider them a nuisance. But now Science has found that the regular use of Listerine will often overcome offensive mouth odors due to the fermentation of tiny bits of food on mouth, teeth, or dental plate surfaces. This safe antiseptic and quick deodorant works quickly. It cleanses mouth, teeth, and gum surfaces. Halts fermentation and putrefaction, a major cause of odors, and then counteracts the odors themselves. Try using Listerine every two or three days. How much more wholesome it leaves your mouth. How it sweetens your breath. Lambert Pharmaceutical Co., St. Louis, Mo.

P. M. Sanford Is Named President Of County Booster Organization

The assembling of facts in relation to all phases of life in Contra Costa county in order that a program may be formulated whereby new residents, new industries and new development may be attracted to this area. It was the opinion at yesterday's meeting that Contra Costa county has lagged far behind other districts in presenting its advantages to the outside world, and that the new Association in its program of research is taking a necessary step toward correcting that condition.

CARLSON IS LEGAL AIDE
T. M. Carlson, city attorney of Richmond, will be the attorney for the association and will in the near future execute the details of incorporating it. The program of activity is to begin about July 1. It is understood it will embrace all the interests of the county over a long period, leading up to the 1939 Exposition, at which time the county will be in position to present itself in the most favorable light to the visitors who will come to the bay region from all parts of the world.

Jones, the research engineer, has lived in Oakland and will make his home in Contra Costa county. He was sought for the office because of his long experience and high record of success in research projects, among the most recent ones being an exhaustive history of the Port of Oakland.

The association came into existence following suggestions made through the Richmond Chamber of Commerce. At a series of meetings during the last several weeks it has been enthusiastically supported by leading civic workers in all parts of the county.

POLICE LED TO SCENE BY GIRL SLAYER

Carrea and two deputies took Walter to the apartment he designated and found the girl's body on the bed.

RECENTLY ARRIVED
Carrea said Walter told him he had left the girl about two weeks ago, just after she arrived from Idaho. He said after he became acquainted with her, she invited him to her apartment.

Last night, police quoted him as saying, she resisted his advances after they had eaten dinner. When she continued to repulse him, he told officers, he "went into a rage, and choked her."

LIVES IN NEW YORK
Walter said he had lived in various parts of the country, but that his permanent address was 84 James street, New York City. He said he had worked at odd jobs in San Francisco since his return from the East recently. He told officers he had worked for some time in a Boston law firm, and had a wife, Angela, somewhere in the East.

Little was known of this girl except that she apparently had arrived in the city alone. Her apartment was modestly furnished. Police were attempting to learn more about her and arrange for disposition of the body.

jective. In other words being a floor leader is a tough assignment and not merely an honorary job. The service creates a heavy obligation on the official for whom it is rendered and ordinarily his gratitude is made manifest.

NO EXCUSE
All the instincts of courtesy, the demands of gratitude and observance of the common decencies demanded the presence of Governor Merriam at the affair. He was widely advertised as having accepted an invitation to be present and the presumption was that those in attendance would hear the Senator extolled for the work he had performed, both from friendship and party standpoints.

THE HIGHEST DUTY
Perhaps my viewpoint is narrow gauge, but under such circumstances I can conceive of no matters of state that would transcend in importance the call of friendship on such an occasion. Such an excuse, in view of the notorious dilatory tactics of the governor in the transaction of public business would not have much weight. Every consideration, except death, called for his attendance. However, he did not go, but sent one of his secretaries. That gesture may satisfy Senator Sharkey. Frankly, were I in his place, it would fall to do so.

Perhaps the governor remembered that old definition of gratitude, "a lively expectation of favors yet to come," and knowing that the Senator could no longer be of any use to him, decided that the books might as well be balanced—in other words adopting the European method as to war debts by refusing to pay them.

How much truth there is in what I have often been told I cannot vouch for, but the way it goes is that Senator Sharkey has never been able to get the meanness kind of a job for a friend out of Merriam.

FRIENDSHIP, LOYALTY AND GRATITUDE
are a trinity of words that have an important bearing on political and human relations. No man can get but transient benefit from violation of the code, but on the other hand he ultimately works his own destruction.

SERVICE UNRECOGNIZED
The service that Senator Sharkey rendered Governor Merriam cannot be dismissed as inconsequential or unimportant or value placed upon it. A definite obligation existed and the least the governor could have done was to have "rendered unto Caesar" his due. Even that would not have canceled the debt, but it would have in a minor way been in conformity with the conventions.

No decision has yet been made as to the amount of fare to be charged due to the fact that the Toll Bridge Authority has not yet determined whether the toll will be levied on the basis of so much per bus or so much per passenger.

St. Sure said the Key System was in excellent financial position and already had issued orders for the construction of modern buses for use on the bridge. These will be air-conditioned and will have cushioned chairs similar to passenger coaches.

St. Sure was accompanied by his assistant, Perry Woodcock.

Plans were made to entertain the Sanger Kiwanis Club at the next meeting. The entertainment program will include lunch at the Hotel Carquines, followed by a visit to the Ford plant and a trip of inspection of the bay bridges.

Landon Speaks

GOVERNOR ALFRED M. LANDON, Republican candidate for president, shown as he addressed 1200 members of the graduating class of the University of Kansas at Lawrence.

LANDON WILL MANAGE OWN VOTE DRIVE

TOPEKA, Kan., June 17—UP—Republican National Chairman John D. M. Hamilton today announced completion of the Republican party organization for the campaign to elect Governor Alf M. Landon president.

Hamilton selected general and division managers to work with the national committee set-up, which was chosen yesterday in a conference of Landon, Frank Knox, his running mate, Hamilton and ranking party leaders.

TO RUN SHOW
As if in answer to the surprise which was expressed yesterday when eight "Old Guard" members were chosen for the party's executive body while only seven new members were chosen, Landon said today that:

"I'm going to run the show. So long as I am given the responsibility for the management of the campaign, I expect to assume the authority to handle it."

AIDES PICKED

The aides picked today were Miss Natalie Couch of New York to handle women's activities; J. K. Bradley of Connecticut to head the Young Republican activities; Dr. Glenn Saxon of Washington to manage research activities, and W. B. Bell of New York to direct the finance committee.

Hamilton will maintain his headquarters in the Chicago office of the campaign when he is not away on speaking engagements. Miss Couch will work out of the New York office which will be under the direction of Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of North Attleboro, Conn. Bradley will be in the Chicago headquarters and Saxon will maintain a staff of staff in Washington and will work personally in Chicago.

MEETING CALLED

"This statistical staff is not a brain trust," Hamilton said. "It is an organization to gather information, not to advise on policies or program."

After completing his organization, Hamilton left for New York to attend a party finance committee meeting which was called for tomorrow. Hamilton has yet to name the woman who will head women's activities in the West of testimony. Stewart told him, the witness said:

"You understand, of course, that 32.0 goes to Fred Murdock of the Tax Collector's office."

That was the first he had heard of a "kick back" Crossman told jurors. He received his check on June 15, 1930, and shortly thereafter, Murdock came to his home demanding the $250.

Crossman refused, Murdock came back several times and finally brought Stewart with him, the witness said. Once again Crossman refused.

FEY APPOINTED
Fey had been active in Stewart's campaign and was appointed expert appraiser at the time Crossman got his job, he testified. He was an auto mechanic, knew nothing of real estate appraisal work and so advised Stewart, he told the Grand Jury.

Fey also testified that Stewart told him and told Crossman they would be helped by Murdock and would have to give Murdock $250 of their pay.

IS QUESTIONED
Murdock, testifying to the Grand Jury concerning the happenings related by Crossman and Fey, was closely questioned by Chief Assistant District Attorney Hoyt. He declared he was going to get $500 for helping Crossman and Fey and Hoyt stomped him.

"Didn't you tell me at my office you were going to get $250 instead of $500?" Hoyt asked.

"I've changed my mind," the witness replied. "I thought it was going to be $500."

GIVEN APPOINTMENTS

The way in which Murdock and Lord, both county officials, were given the appointments in 1928 and allowed to collect through dummy names was brought out by Murdock.

Lord had been in an auto accident and needed money. Murdock advised Stewart gave the two of them appointments, told them to get valuations of property from the assessor's books and suggested they use dummy names to collect their pay, Murdock testified.

They used the names of E. M. Lynn, a friend of his, and L. S. Sloan, a cousin of Lord's to collect the $250 each was to receive. Lynn and Sloan borrowed the checks from the State board and Lord was given all the money, Murdock testified.

Lord, in his testimony admitted he had made other and subsequent appraisals Hoyt said.

He said secretary that he was empowered to hire by the national committee.

Pasadena Lawyer

Barred By Court

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17—UP—

The State Supreme Court today permanently disbarred George W. Padham, Pasadena lawyer for alleged fraudulent handling of the affairs of four of his clients.

Supplementing the disbarment order with a strongly worded condemnation of a member of the legal ranks "who would so further his own ends at the expense of others that the truth becomes a stranger," the Supreme court justices forbade Padham from further practice in the state.
